Our speaker this year will be Andy Bauer, the Education Program Coordinator for the AgrAbility program. The Ohio AgrAbility program promotes success in agriculture for Ohio's farmers and farm families who are coping with disability or a long-term health condition. The AgrAbility program promotes independence for people in agriculture who want to continue to farm after experiencing a disabling condition (i.e. Arthritis, diabetes, paralysis, amputation, repetitive motion injuries, visual or hearing impairment, etc.). The Ohio State University has partnered with Eater Seals to bring this program to you at the local level. Mr Bauer will be talking about the AgrAbility program and what it can do for you and/or your family!

Also planned for the agenda, Cindy Meyer, Extension Educator, will provide an update on the Farm Bill as well as discuss the new Fertilizer Certification program.

This meeting will not only be educational but it will be a good meal with good company, so be sure to contact all of your friends and neighbors.

Sincerely,

Cindy Meyer
